Test Leader for PIA Project
In my role as test leader for the PIA project, I am responsible for a group of newly arrived youth and leads weekly sessions with the aim of encouraging integration and well-being. The sessions are based on various examples from a standardized manual in psychological research, which opens the door to numerous discussions. These discussions are designed to strengthen the youths' development and self-confidence in the new country.
Teaching Assistant in mathematics
In the role as a teaching assistant in mathematics at Örebro University, I was responsible for a group of engineering students, helping them with mathematical questions and guiding them through problem-solving. I also participated in grading exams and collaborated with both teaching assistants and professors to coordinate teaching and ensure fair assessments.

FemTek Oru
Aug 2024 - Dec 2024
Teaching Assistant in Databases
As a teaching assistant in Databases at Örebro University, I support students in their studies by answering questions related to database theory and guiding them in ER modeling and SQL. I also participate in grading assignments and collaborate with other teaching assistants and course professors to ensure clear and fair assessment.
Marketing Manager
As marketing manager for FemTek, a women's network promoting gender equality in technical education at Örebro University, I developed strategies to raise awareness of the network's mission. Also, I managed events and workshop promotions, created engaging social media content, and collaborated closely with the board to lead projects effectively. By building partnerships with technology companies, I enhanced the network's visibility and established valuable professional connections. This role strengthened my skills in communication, teamwork, and project management, while contributing to meaningful change at the university.
